

Vladivostok Sunrise

Mary Mother of God Mission Society and Vladivostok Mission

Issue Number One Hundred

Special Edition Issue: Highlights from Vladivostok Sunrise

By Rev Daniel Maurer, C.J.D.

December 1, 1989: Mikhail Gorbachev and Pope John Paul II meet in the Vatican and agree to work toward the reestablishment of the Catholic hierarchy in the Soviet Union and the establishment of diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and the Holy See.

March 1990: On Guam Fr Myron reads an article in an "Aid To The Church In Need" newsletter saying that soon there will be a great need for Catholic priests in the Soviet Far East. He begins to think about starting a new community in the Pacific port of Vladivostok, the largest city in the far eastern part of the Soviet Union. In April, he and Br Dan receive an invitation from Bishop Montrose of Stockton, CA to work in Modesto, CA. They move to Modesto in June.

December 1990: Fr Myron asks Br Dan to write to his friend, Fr Norman Meiklejohn, AA, the Catholic chaplain for the diplomatic community in Moscow, to find out where they can apply for service in Vladivostok. Fr Norman tells him to write to Msgr. Jean-Louis Tauran, Vatican Secretary of State for Relations with States.

February 20, 1991: Br Dan writes to Msgr. Tauran. Not receiving an answer, he writes again on April 13, coincidentally the same day that the Roman Catholic hierarchy is officially re-established in the Soviet Union with the appointment of 5 new bishops.

April 14: Fr Myron and Br Dan read in the local Modesto newspaper a short announcement about the re-establish- ment of the Roman Catholic Hierarchy in the Soviet Union. Now they understand why it has taken the Vatican so long to answer their inquiry.

June 1991: We receive a letter from Msgr Tauran thanking us for our application to work for the Church in Russia

The Catholic Church in Eastern Russia

After the revolution of 1917, Siberia became a showplace of the new Communist era, a land without churches and without God. Under Stalin, all Catholic churches were confiscated, and many were turned into the most degrading uses imaginable.

Two American priests, Fr. Myron Effing, CJD, and Fr. Daniel Maurer, CJD, arrived in Vladivostok in 1992 to help re-establish the Church in this region. They founded or re-founded 11 Catholic parishes in an area covering over 500,000 square miles. With the foundations laid, additional priests and sisters are joining the work, and parishes are slowly growing and multiplying.

and advising us to contact the newly appointed Catholic bishop in the “Apostolic Administration of the Asian part of Russia” in whose jurisdiction is Vladivostok.

August 1991: Fr Myron makes his first survey trip to Russia, to find and talk to the new bishop. (VS #2, p 1), lasting two weeks and including meetings with people in Anchorage, Magadan, Khabarovsk, Irkutsk and Novosibirsk. In Anchorage he meets Archbishop Francis Hurley, who very generously offers to help provide our future mission with a US address and office help for development purposes. For the next 6 years in the Anchorage Archdiocesan Chancery Mr Ray Rzeszut is our US office coordinator. We are grateful to Archbishop Hurley, Ray and his entire family for their indispensable help during those first several years. (See special tribute to the Rzeszuts in VS #30, p 4).

Fr Myron meets Bishop Joseph Werth, SJ in Novosibirsk (in the heart of Siberia, (VS #1, p 1) and asks him if he needs our services, and if so, would he be willing to accept us in Vladivostok with permission to begin a new community of Canons Regular under his sponsorship? Bishop Werth responds that he has no way of knowing about the present situation of Catholics in Vladivostok because it is a closed “military” city. No one, not even Soviet citizens, can enter without a special permit. He tells Fr Myron that he recently received a letter from a group of people calling themselves the “Roman Catholic Community of Vladivostok” asking him to send them a priest in order to establish a parish. He also says that if Fr Myron can find his way into Vladivostok and if there really are Catholics who need a priest, he would erect a parish there and assign Fr Myron as pastor, and further allow us to work toward establishing the community of the Canons Regular of Jesus the Lord.

November 1991: Fr Myron enters Vladivostok illegally, although he had a valid Russian visa for Vladivostok from the consulate in San Francisco, gets caught by the Soviet militia, pays a small fine, and is able to meet with the “Catholic community” of about 10 members. He learns that before the Communist revolution (November 1917), Vladivostok was a large and active Roman Catholic center and a diocese, and that the pre-revolutionary church had not been destroyed, but only confiscated for the use by the Communist government.

November 10, 1991: Fr Myron celebrates the first Mass in 56 years at the Catholic Cathedral of the Most Holy Mother of God. Because the church building is occupied by the state archives, the Mass is held outside in the cold on the front steps, (VS #1, p 2).

December 1991: Fr Myron reports his findings to Bishop Werth, who agrees to accept us to work in the parish and also approves the ordination of Br Dan to the diaconate. “Fr Effing and Br Dan To Vladivostok” says the first headline of the first issue of the Vladivostok Sunrise, edited and published in Livingston, CA by Fr Myron as he and Br Dan wait for their visas to go to Russia. It was printed on plain paper with b&w photos.

Ordination of Br Dan Maurer to the diaconate by Bishop Paul Donovan of Kalamazoo, MI, December 20, 1991.

December 20, 1991: Br Dan is ordained to the diaconate at his boyhood parish in Benton Harbor, MI by the Bishop of Kalamazoo for service to the Church in the Asian Part of Russia, (VS #1 p 3).

December 25, 1991: Mikhail Gorbachev resigns as Secretary General of the Communist Party of the USSR.

December 26, 1991: The country called the USSR is formally dissolved. Its 15 constituent republics, including the Republic of Russia, become independent countries.

January 1, 1992: The legislature of the city of Vladivostok passes a law opening the city to all Russians. Foreigners still need to obtain a Russian visa to enter Russia.

January 4, 1992: In honor of the first visit of Archbishop Francis Hurley of Anchorage, AK to Vladivostok, the state officials approve the formal re-establishment of the Roman Catholic Parish of the Most Holy Mother of God as a registered religious institution. This step is necessary to be able to invite foreign church personnel to Russia for religious activities, (VS #2, p 3).

Archbishop Francis Hurley, D.D. of Anchorage, Alaska visited us several times, here with Fr Michael Shields of Magadan.

February 11, 1992: “At Last – Vladivostok!” (VS #2, p 1). Fr Myron and Br Dan arrive in Vladivostok (pop. 750,000) to take up residence. They are the 4th and 5th foreigners to enter the city legally for the purpose of residing there (not as tourists). Anastasia Potapenko the lay leader of the parish has made arrangements for them to rent a small 2-room apartment with telephone for one year. Rental cost: $400 a year, including utilities and maintenance. At that time fewer than 30% of the population of Vladivostok have telephones.

Attendees at the first Sunday Mass.

Sunday, February 16, 1992: The first Sunday Mass is held in the small auditorium in the basement of the “Palace of the Pioneers”, (the Communist children’s scouting organization). Around 35 people attend, of whom approximately 20 are Catholics. (VS #2, p 1).

February 1992: Fr Myron meets with Governor Vladimir Kuznetsov of Primorsky State and with the director of the Archive of Primorsky Krai (which occupied our church building for 60 years) to discuss the question of returning the church building to the parish. Governor Kuznetsov tells Fr Myron that he thinks this can be accomplished in about 18 months.

June 7, 1992: Fr Myron performs his first baptisms and confirmations in the parish when six adults complete their 8-week course of catechism classes, (VS #4, p 5 photos). Before Fr Myron and Fr Dan arrived in Russia to stay, two other Roman Catholic priests had visited Vladivostok to look for Catholics. While in the city they baptized ten people: Fr Ignaty Paulus SDS on Nov. 14, 1991 and Fr Jan Sergei Gayek on Jan. 3-4, 1992.

(r to l) Fr Joseph Fessio, S.J., Mr and Mrs Richard Schindler (early parishioners), Roxanne Lum and Donna Fong (Fr Fessio’s assistants), Anastacia Potopenko (parish secretary), Br Dan, Igor Davidov (interpreter), and Fr Myron—standing in front of the van that Fr Fessio bought and donated to us.

July 1992: “Ignatius Press Comes to Visit and To Work” (VS #4, p 1-3.) Fr Joseph Fessio, SJ with two members of the Ignatius Press staff and two others make a 3-week visit to the mission in Vladivostok. Fr Fessio brings as his carry-on luggage the mission’s first copy machine, and buys the mission its first two motor vehicles, a jeep and a mini-van. He introduces our mission to the internet, our most valuable tool, which was new at the time. His guest room while here is the 7-foot square kitchen in our rented apartment, where he sleeps on chair cushions laid on the floor.

Sunday, August 16, 1992: Outdoor Mass of the Assumption of Mary is held in the church yard. The parish choir, started by Br Dan in July, makes its debut under the direction of parishioner Anna Gafurova (age 20), a university level student at the 5-year Far Eastern Academy of Music, and a member of the first baptismal class two months earlier, (VS #5 p 3-4).

August 23, 1992: Bishop Joseph Werth, S.J. of the Apostolic Administration of Asian Russia visits Vladivostok for the first time. While there he confirms 5 parishioners at Mass in the lobby of the Palace of the Pioneers because the Small Auditorium was too small to hold all those attending the service, (VS #5, p 5 photo).

Sunday, September 21, 1992: Br Dan's Ordination to the priesthood (special edition with color photos). Bishop Werth flies to Vladivostok to ordain Br Dan, (VS# 5, p 1-3, 5), the second Catholic priest openly ordained in Russia since religious freedom was restored. Fr Dan's parents attend the ordination ceremony. Bishop Werth asks Anastasia Potapenko to organize a chapter of the international Catholic charitable organization CARITAS in Vladivostok.

October 21, 1992: Vladivostok parish evangelization director Dennis Bondarev begins producing, directing and hosting a 90-minute weekly religious TV program Saturday nights during prime time, (VS #5, p 5). (See also "Catholic TV Celebrates 1st Anniversary", VS #7, p 5-6.)

December 1992: Vladivostok parish secretary Anastasia Potapenko is received in a private audience in the Vatican by Pope John Paul II. (VS #6, p 1). He blesses her unborn son, subsequently named "John Paul".

December 1992: After 10 months the parish outgrows the 40-seat "Small Auditorium" in the basement of the Palace of the Pioneers. Fr Dan's Russian tutor helps us find a very nice auditorium on the fourth floor of the Trade Unions Headquarters building that seats 90 people. The parish signs an agreement and will meet there for Sunday Mass for 13 months, until their historic church building is returned. Photos of Mass in this hall are readily recognized because of the large bas reliefs of Karl Marx and Vladimir Lenin on the front wall on either side.

January 2, 1993: The Legion of Mary begins at the parish in Vladivostok with 8 young men and Fr Dan as spiritual director, (VS #6 p 2).

January 26, 1993: 500 miles north of Vladivostok, Fr Myron resurrects the pre-revolutionary parish of the Immaculate Conception in the city of Khabarovsk (pop. 650,000), (VS #6, p 5; VS #7, p 4-5) and celebrates its first Mass in over 60 years. Two people are baptized. Appointed absentee pastor by Bishop Werth, Fr Myron will visit this parish at least once a month for 6 years, traveling by train 14½ hours each way to do so, until pastoral care is taken over by the Maryknoll missionaries in December 1997.

May 1993: Fr Dan completes the first edition of the parish hymnal, My Soul Magnifies the Lord of 64 hymns and Mass parts, (VS #6, p 6). It is designed so that pages can be added as new hymns become available.

May 31, 1993: Bishop Werth establishes the parish of St John the Evangelist in the city of Bolshoy Kamyen (pop. 50,000; located 3½ hours by train from Vladivostok). He appoints Fr Dan as absentee pastor. Fr Dan visits the parish once a month on Saturdays.

June 1993: "The World's Largest Diocese" (VS #6, p 3-6). Reflections by our young American guest, Janez Sever, about all the parishes he visited during his first, long trip in Russia, including this about Vladivostok: "Along with shepherding five separate new parishes in and around Vladivostok Fathers Myron and Daniel have take on several other gigantic tasks... This is the very essence of a Christian community: selfless sacrifice of oneself and faith that God will provide the rest... In the space of an American living room, the pastor runs his parish office, celebrates daily Mass, eats and sleeps! Sunday Mass is held in a rented hall... He and Fr Daniel have already resolved to dedicate their lives to this ministry in Russia, but there is more than enough here for countless numbers of religious..." Janez, a West Point graduate, was ordained a Jesuit priest for Russia a few years after his visit to Vladivostok.

July 1993: The Parish Grows Quickly! During the first 1½ years the Vladivostok parish grows from 10 members to 180 members, mostly through baptisms but also by locating already baptized Catholics, (VS #6, p 6).

January 1, 1994: "We Receive Our Church" (VS #7, p 1-3). The historic Cathedral of the Most Holy Mother of God is returned to the Vladivostok Catholic parish, just in time to celebrate the Mass of the titular feast of the parish on the third floor. The restoration of the interior begins immediately with the removal of the 4th floor of wood and steel, which was added in the 1930's; the removal of two large interior brick walls separating the transept and the choir loft from the nave, and the repair of hundreds of broken window panes to keep the building warmer during the winter. (See also VS #8, p 5-7).

January 1994: "New Parish in Nakhodka" (VS #12, p 1-2). Fr Myron founds the parish of Our Lady of the Pacific in the city of Nakhodka (pop. 160,000) located on the ocean, a 5-hour drive by car from Vladivostok. Bishop Werth appoints him as pastor. Fr Myron will visit the parish once or twice a month for the next 11 years until two diocesan priests take over its pastoral care.

March 22, 1994: “New Parish in Blagoveshensk” (VS #8, p 2-4). Fr Myron resurrects the pre-revolutionary parish of the Transfiguration of the Lord in the Russian Far Eastern city of Blagoveshensk (pop. 300,000) with the celebration of the first Mass there in over 60 years. On June 28 Bishop Werth formally establishes the parish and appoints Fr Myron pastor. Trustee Andre Popok supervising the removal of the middle added floor in the church.

October 18, 1994: “Another Floor Removed” (VS #9, p 1-2). The interior restoration of the Vladivostok church buildings takes a major step with the removal of the steel-reinforced concrete third floor; and the re-creation of the “grape and leaves” capitals on the 6 huge pillars and 18 pilasters. During the 14 months of this stage of the restoration the parish meets for Mass on the first floor.

Spring 1995: “Miracle Picture” (VS #11 cover story). Elderly parishioner Sophia Mihailovna finds and gives to the parish the original formal photographic portrait of her First Communion class which miraculously survived the persecution. The large, vintage Rodgers Cambridge 220-II electronic organ that was given to us as a gift by the pastor Fr Bernard Reiser and the parishioners of Epiphany of the Lord parish in Coon Rapids, MN is installed in our church.
